Originally founded in 1996 by members of the Glee Club, the Undertones have gone on to record several albums. The Undertones sing arrangements of current rock, folk, and musical theater hits, as well as popular standards. They perform frequent concerts on the campus of the University of Notre Dame and have toured extensively throughout the United States, Europe, and around the world. "Shirley Heinze Land Trust plays a vital role in preserving natural lands in Northwest Indiana. The Undertones concert is a fun and entertaining way to help us celebrate our 30th anniversary and support our work. We are delighted to host these 12 young men from Notre Dame," explained Kris Krouse, Executive Director of Shirley Heinze Land Trust.
